Summary Report of the Event

Title of the Event: LEGAL REGULATIONS OF DRUG ABUSE

Laws regulating drug abuse programs aim to prevent misuse of controlled substances while ensuring access to treatment. The Controlled Substances Act (CSA) classifies drugs into five categories based on their potential for abuse, with Schedule I being the most dangerous. The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) enforces these rules, requiring healthcare providers to keep records of prescriptions. HIPAA ensures patient privacy, and the Ryan Haight Act regulates online pharmacies. Together, these laws prevent illegal drug use, protect patients, and ensure treatment is available for those in need.
