SEED MONEY POLICY

Research and developmental activities create new knowledge, motivate better learning, bring new energy, build facilities and infrastructure, promote innovation, IP generation and consultancy and develop collaborations. Considering all these features, the institute has conceived and implements the SEED MONEY POLICY.

Objectives

- Create a vibrant research atmosphere among faculty, scholars and students
- Nurture socially relevant research with potential for commercialization
- To motivate faculty to do bench-mark (Pilot studies) of their choice and then develop projects for extramural support
- Aid a faculty to develop a proof of concept to a novel idea
- Promote inter-disciplinary collaboration in emerging areas
- Promote generation of IPR and process/product development

Guidelines

- Faculty members are encouraged to submit disciplinary/ inter-disciplinary/ multi-disciplinary research proposals (in-house project) based on their innovative ideas
- Faculty members can include students/ scholars as co-investigators of the proposal
- Seed Money research project/ grant shall be limited to Rs. 5,000
- Based on the importance of project, additional grant will be sanctioned
- Duration of the project is from three to six months
- The support should be acknowledged in all forms of disseminations

Process for Seed Money Policy

- The applicant has to submit research proposal to the Principal after getting approval from the concerned HoD
