Concept Learning:

- Supervised Learning - Supervised learning is the machine learning task of learning a function that maps an input to an output based on example input-output pairs. It infers a function from labelled training data consisting of a set of training examples,

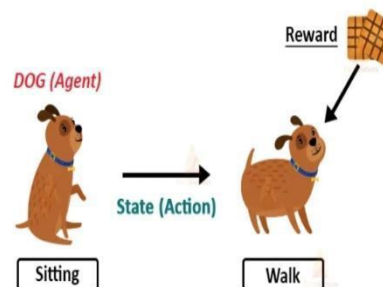

Example:

Age	Sex	Cholesterol	Cigarettes per day	Family history of heart disease	Chest pain type	Blood sugar	Heart disease
55	M	221	5	True	typical angina	118	True
58	F	196	0	False	non-anginal pain	98	False

Age	Sex	Cholesterol	Cigarettes per day	Family history of heart disease	Chest pain type	Blood sugar	Heart disease
65	F	208	2	False	typical angina	105	???

- Reinforcement Learning - Reinforcement learning is a machine learning training method based on rewarding desired behaviours and/or punishing undesired ones. In general, a reinforcement learning agent is able to perceive and interpret its environment, take actions and learn through trial and error.

- Unsupervised Learning - Unsupervised learning is a type of

- Unsupervised Learning - Unsupervised learning is a type of algorithm that learns patterns from untagged data. The hope is that, through mimicry, the machine is forced to build a compact internal representation of its world and then generate imaginative content.

Example:

Age	Sex	Cholesterol	Cigarettes per day	Family history of heart disease	Chest pain type	Blood sugar	Heart disease
55	M	221	5	True	typical angina	110	True
53	F	199	0	True	non-anginal pain	98	True
53	F	215	0	True	asymptomatic	110	True
62	M	245	3	False	typical angina	126	True

There are different treatments for heart disease. Different types of patients respond better or worse to certain treatments. We can use unsupervised learning to understand the different types of patients we have. Let's filter our dataset to only include patients with heart disease. We can pass it into a clustering model and get categories of patients based on feature similarity. For example, one category could be patients with high cholesterol and blood sugar level of a certain age range. Note, we didn't know these categories and, even, the number of categories before running this. With this output, we can group patients and research better treatments for each group. Now, with a new patient, we can input the features into the model and get which patient type they best fit into.

Solution:

Age	Sex	Cholesterol	Cigarettes per day	Family history of heart disease	Chest pain type	Blood sugar	Heart disease
65	F	208	2	False	typical angina	105	True

Types of Algorithms:

- Linear regression
- Logistic regression
- Decision tree
- SVM algorithm
- Naive Bayes algorithm
- KNN algorithm
