Respected Sir,

Sub: Request for performing antibacterial studies reg

I am pursuing PhD on a part-time basis at the Bharathiar University. I am working on the green synthesis of metal oxide nanoparticles using plant extracts. As part of my research I need to perform antibacterial studies (E. coli and S. aureus) on the synthesized Fe_3O_4 nanoparticles. I kindly request you to extend the facility at your department for this study which will be of great help to me.

Thank you,

Yours faithfully,

Institute of Technology, Civil Aerodrome Post, and earned rupees 850/- on the topic Basic Microbiological Techniques. Microbiology techniques are methods used for the study of microbes, including bacteria and microscopic fungi and protists. They include methods to survey, culture, stain, identify, engineer and manipulate microbes. Two of the most common microbiological testing methods used are traditional culture methods (TCM), and quantitative polymerase-chain-reaction (QPCR) analysis.

16.07.2019

Dear Sir / Madam,

Warm greetings from St. Joseph's College, Trichy!

The GOI has placed the draft National Education Policy (NEP) in public domain for discussions and deliberations. This document is of immense importance for decades to come and will have lasting implication on Indian Education System and hence the UGC has appealed to all stakeholders, especially HEIs, to participate actively and contribute in the final making of the country's first Education Policy of the 21st century. This century is powered by technology, fueled by information and driven by knowledge. It is not too late to be proactive in examining the current education system with an eye on the future.

A cursory scanning of draft NEP, consisting over 480 pages, reveals promising propositions as well as serious concerns. It contains a lot of ambitious proposals aiming to place Indian Education System on the highest pedestal. But there are certain proposals that will have serious, negative and long lasting consequences, if implemented. They require our proactive intervention as academicians and educational leaders.

Hence, SJC has planned a one-day Colloquium on National Educational Policy, inviting experts, heads and administrators of various HEIs, academicians and intellectuals to deliberate, discuss and submit our suggestions to the MHRD. We invite the administrators of your esteemed institution - Principal, Secretary, IQAC Coordinator, Vice-Principals, Deans or Heads of the Departments - to partake in the National Colloquium to be held on 25 July, 2019. From 9.30 am to 02.00 pm will be concluded with lunch.

Yours sincerely,

Rev. Dr. M. Arockiasamy Xavier, SJ
